

Château Haut-Peyrous 2010

Posted on 13 June 2013.

Threw this into a tasting of oak worked 'Graves' style Margaret River wines of a similar price. Importer: DiscoverVin

Grassy, but flamboyant with plenty of gooseberry and tropical fruit, laced with aniseed and spice. And really, that aniseed is something of a feature. Medium weight, old oranges and savoury wood influence, minerally edges, but all up much quieter to taste than the nose would suggest. Nice wine.
